About the Women's Tour

The Women's Tour is a major UK sporting event that is growing in popularity year-on-year.

Last year, 96 professional riders from 22 countries - including 12 national champions, six Olympic medallists and five world race champions - competed in front of packed crowds and TV audiences.

This year's race promises to be even better with Chesterfield Borough Council and Derbyshire County Council bringing the race back to Derbyshire on Saturday 10 June.

The 81-mile Derbyshire stage will start and finish in the historic market town of Chesterfield, taking in the beautiful Derbyshire countryside and the market towns of Belper, Bolsover, Wirksworth and Staveley.
